

Certification, Licensing and Other Requirements

You will be informed by your immediate supervisor if there are any licensing, certification or testing requirements for your job. We typically provide reminders of expiring items, but it's your responsibility to maintain your license or certification. In certain positions, failure to qualify or to maintain a certification or license may be sufficient cause for discharge.